If the hour angle be large, and the time be required with great accuracy, the equation of time for the day must be computed for the hour. If the body be a star, the calculated angle t is the interval of sidereal time between the observation and the star's upper culmination; and the true time must be deduced therefrom. An example of this method of finding the true mean time is given in Appendix IV. Convergence of Meridians. Convergence denotes the change in bearing of a line, running straight over the earth for some considerable distance, due to the fact that the meridians to which its bearings are referred, converge to the pole. Thus, if ABC (Fig. 17) represents such a line, which is an arc of a great circle on the earth, the only line a theodolite properly set up and levelled can run, as the telescope, on being transited, would point to the centre of the earth when downward.
